Free Fishing and Free Trade. PROPOSED TREATY NOW BEING CONSIDERED BY THE CANADIAN AUTHORITIES.

Dispatches from Ottawa, Ontario, say that a treaty concerning the fishery dispute between Canada and the United States, drawn up by the British government, has been sent to the Canadian ministry and is now being considered. The Canadian government has suggested some important modifications to the home country, which they believe their interests demand. The settlement now proposed is, it is stated, practically that effected by the treaty of 1854. It provides that the waters of all Canadian coasts, bays and harbors shall be forever open to Americans, who are to enjoy the same liberty as are enjoyed by British subjects themselves. Taking, drying and curing fish upon the coasts within the harbors or along the greeks. the narbors, or along the creeks, is permitted whenever British subjects are not previously in possession or occupancy of the land. The same privilege is extended to Canadian fishermen in waters north of the 36th parallel. Regulations of trade are proposed which parallel. Regulations of trade are proposed which practically amount to a free exchange of products. Citizens of the United States shall have the right to navigate the River St. Lawrence and all canals in Canada the River St. Lawrence and all canals in Canada with their vessels, boats and craits as freely and on the same terms as British subjects. British subjects having an equal right to ircely navigate Lake Michigan with their vessels, boats and crafts. It is proposed to have the treaty remain in force for twenty years after both powers have given assent. At the end of twenty years it may be terminated by either of the parties by giving one year's notice.

Political Notes. Congressional nominations were made yesterday as follows: John R. Ex-President Arthur intends to return to New York from New London on Monday. He seems to have derived some benefit from his stay there. Mr. Sherman W. Knevals spent Sunday with him at New London. He says that Mr. Arthur's health is certainly no worse, and probably a little better, than it was when he left New York. While he has lost flesh and is confined to the house most of the time, his appearance would scarcely lead one to think him a sick man. His color is good, he sleeps well, has a good appetite, is in cheerfel spirits and keeps up his interest in affairs in general.

Mr. R. Taylor Scott then nominated Gen. Lee, For awhile it looked as if no other name would be placed in nomination, but finally an Alexandria delegate arose and named Mr. Frank Hume. When the result was made known there was an outburst of appliause, in which the there was an outburst of applause, in which the adnerents of the deleated men joined. Lee's comination was then made unanimous, and a ommittee sent out to invite all the candidates to address the convention. The committee quickly returned, accompanied by Gen. Lee, Mr. Frank Hume and Mr. E. E. Meredith. Gen. Lee made a brief address, thanking the Gen. Lee made a brief addition, and pledging convention for the nomination, and pledging long as he had tite. Mr. Frank Hume thanked his adherents for their support, and congratulated them on having made so wise a choice. He pledged himself to do everything in his power to support Gen. Lee. Mr. Meredith made a similar speech, and the convention adjourned. When the majority rule was adopted in the convention, several members, led by Mr. W. H. H. Miss Cleveland Thanks Her Neighbors.
Miss Rose Elizabeth Cleveland has written a letter of thanks to the neighbors who aided in extinguishing the fire in her home at Holland Patent a few days ago, saying: "To my friends and neighbors who have this day, by their unmeasured kindness and marvelous energy, saved to me my old home, I wish to make some expression of my sense of obligation. I beg them to believe that no words can ever express the gratitude I shall forever feel." Hiss Cleveland will continue to make her home at Holland Patent.
